DISPUTE THREATENS WEST GERMAN PLAN

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Best wishes to Ronnie and Johnnie Garland, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Garland.

The went on a trip to the dime store yesterday with their proud daddy, and we imagine they just about got what they wanted.

One weighed three pounds more than the other at birth but he's caught up now and just weighs three quarters of a pound less than his brother.

We enjoyed the visit yesterday of Rotary District Governor Ernest L. Vogt.

He is a fine man and a successful one. His down to earth qualities won over the club.

He possesses a quality that is rare in "big" men of today and that is humility. He had the attitude that he was to be accepted for what he was and that's all. We appreciate men like him.

Edwin Cain was introduced yesterday at the Rotary Club as a new member. Edwin is well known in Murray and Calloway county. He's a builder of houses and we have respect for anybody who can build a house or building from the ground up.

We've watched a lot of buildings go up, and never cease to be interested in seeing them take shape. There obviously is a certain way of going about it, but other than pouring the foundation first, we know little about it.

Hugo Wilson is now situated in his new location at Second and Main streets. Hugo is another successful young business man at Murray who has worked hard to get where he is. He started at Third and Main in 1947 and the move last week put him in a better position to display his cart.

His off to the First grade teachers of the county. It's amazing how they can take a six year old boy or girl and by the end of the year have them reading.

To Editor

Dear Editor: The past year has been a very busy one for me. I was selected to be the Democratic nominee after the death of J. Campbell Cantrell by the executive committee.

The night before the meeting to select a candidate, it seemed that Fields was the choice of a majority of the committee which held on in the latter part of the night. Fields came from Ashland after being called. He was then a member of congress, and had been for several terms.

Someone had to be selected to fill his place in the lower house of Congress. Early in the night I was delegated to meet Fields when he arrived at the Seelbach Hotel and tell him of the plans.

He was tired and sleepy so he stretched out on a seat and went to sleep. So, until the wee hours I had to stay awake to be ready for the call and to see that no one interfered. The next day the committee convened and it was very harmonious. Alben Barkley spoke and called the candidate "Honest Bill from Olive Hill". He was elected.

I attended the inauguration and after the day and all activities had closed, Governor Fields called me and said he wanted me to spend the night with him. He had never been in the mansion, before and wanted me to take inventory of equipment on hand. He had several children, but none were there the first night. Governor Fields thought everything would be spick and span, but we went in and there were no groceries and little equipment, only the beds.

We got out and got food for supper and breakfast. There were only a few odd glasses no cups, saucers, coffee pot. He told Mrs. Fields that they would have to go back home and bring things needed. There was only a colored janitor there when we went in. He said he did not know what was to be taken or left, but it looked like they took everything, maybe by souvenir hunters.

Soon after the inauguration, the governor called me and asked me to take an appointment on the Board of Charities and Corrections, then managing the state institutions. I told him I had too much to do. I knew there was no pay to the job, but he did not know it. He insisted that I go on the board. I had to give three to five days a month with all the criticism that went with it.

I decided to get out by announcing to the Senate and was elected. He contended I could hold both places, but I did not think so. The next legislature passed a measure to give the board salaries. This story is getting too long.

Bruce Tucker Will Speak On Sunday

Layman's Day will be observed on Sunday at the First Methodist Church, according to Rev. Paul T. Lyles, pastor. The address of the day will be given by Bruce Tucker, son of Mrs. E. A. Tucker of Murray.

Layman's Day is an annual observance at the church. On this day laymen and laywomen speak in the churches over the nation. This program is sponsored by the general board of the Lay Activities. Mr. Tucker is employed by the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association. He is executive vice-president of the group and has an office in the Peabody Hotel, Memphis, Tennessee.

For many years he served as administrative assistant to senators from Louisiana. Before going to Memphis, he served with Senator Russell Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have two children, and attend the Mullins Chapel Methodist Church where he served on the official board.

Woman's Club Board Meets Thursday

The executive board of the Murray Woman's Club met yesterday at 1:30 at the club house.

Mrs. L. E. Owen, president, presided. A discussion was held on the constitution and the by laws of the organization and the date was set for the Christmas program, which will be announced later.

The music department will sponsor the event this year. Mrs. Fred Gingles and Mrs. Ray Brownfield gave short reports on the First District meeting which was held at Fulton recently.

Mrs. Owen reminded the chairmen of the department to have their committees to start work on their project of getting out the vote for the coming election.

Mrs. Edwin Larson, chairman of the Alpha department, announced that the department meeting this month would be an open meeting and would be held on October 23. Subject for the meeting will be Guatemala and Central American dancers will be featured.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. L. E. Owen, president; Mrs. Richard Farrell, second vice-president; Mrs. R. H. Robbins, corresponding secretary; and Medaevs Edwin Larson; Alpha; Ray Brownfield; Delta; Fred Gingles, Garden; G. B. Scott, Home; Albert Tracy, Music; John Pasco, Zeta; Wilbur DeJarnett, Sigma; W. C. Eldins, Civic; chairman; A. F. Dornan, legislative; W. J. Gibson, finance chairman; William Barker, yearbook; George Overbey, House and Garden; and E. S. Ferguson, press and radio.

Fishing Prospects Said To Be Better

FRANKFORT — Fishing prospects still are not good in Kentucky although better catches of both bass and crappie have been reported at the major lakes.

The state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, predicted fishing will continue to improve as water temperature drops.

Dewey Lake still lists bass fishing as its best bet with three crappie and bluegill being taken. Black bass fishing is picking up at Lake Herrington with catches on medium running plugs off rocky points and on bass plugs.

White bass and crappie are being caught there around fallen tree trunks in the early morning. Dale Hollow fishing is slow although crappie catches are improving, taken at about 20 feet. Bass are being caught on surface lures and large minnows.

A&P Observes First Year In Murray

The local A & P Store is observing its first anniversary in Murray today. The store was opened in Murray one year ago today with John Workman as manager.

The present manager is Windsor Tripp who joined the firm when it opened in Murray, as produce manager.

The company has announced new prices on coffee that it handles, which represent the second price cut on coffee that the grocery firm has given in recent months.

Eight O'clock coffee is one pound 95 cents with three pounds $2.79. Red Circle coffee is 97 cents per pound with three pounds $2.85. Bokar coffee is 99 cents per pound with three pounds $2.91. A&P Vacuum Pack is $1.03 per pound.

The company also has introduced Gee Gee popcorn, a local product, in a new package. The popcorn in oil is 39 cents for two ten ounce glass jars, and 29 cents for two ten ounce cans.

Seven Candidates Seek The Three Vacancies On The City School Board In November

By James C. Williams
The voters of the city of Murray will have an unusual election confronting them this November election, in the city school board race.

In past years when a position was to be filled on the city school board, there was just one candidate for that position.

This year there will be three vacancies on the city school board with seven candidates running for the positions.

The city school board as it stands today is composed of Luther Robertson as chairman, Jabe Outland, Dr. A. D. Butterworth, Mrs. Joe Baker, and Wells Overbey. Mr. Overbey was named to succeed A. B. Austin, who passed away while in office. Both Mr. Butterworth and Mrs. Baker have two more years service on the school board. W. Z. Carter is Superintendent of city schools and secretary to the board. He is employed by the board.

Mr. Robertson, Mr. Outland and Dr. Butterworth's terms expire

this year and are not candidates for re-election. It is these three positions that voters of Murray will fill at the November election.

The seven candidates for the position are Maurice Ryan, W. C. Elkins, Dick Sykes, Hilton Hughes, Joseph Berry, H. B. Bailey, Jr. and H. T. Waldrop.

The school board ballots will be separate from the regular general election ballot, and voters are urged to ask for the school board ballot so that they can determine which of the seven candidates will fill the three positions available.

The positions on the school board have always been responsible ones since the city school board not only determines many of the policies in the city system, but it also has charge of the entire physical plant of the city schools.

This year, however, the responsibility of the board will increase, since the city school system will involve the operation of not only Douglas High School, colored students, and the buildings on Main street, but also a completely new elementary school located on South 13th street.

Douglas High School has been enlarged in the last two years with a gymnasium and has a new heating system.

The Murray High school is housed in the largest building on the Murray High campus with almost all of the elementary school housed in the new building on South Ninth street at Main.

The new elementary school on South 13th street will house one each of the first six grades of the elementary school. The Ledger and Times has suggested that this school be named the A. B. Austin Elementary School.

The Murray City School Board will have to decide which grades will be moved to the new building and which areas of the city will be served by the new building.

The City School Board also handles almost $200,000 a year for which it has to account.

In selecting school board members, voters will have to select people with vision also. The Murray City Schools are in their present excellent position solely because of the vision exercised by the present board. Their foresight in looking ahead to the current large school census has resulted in the city school expansion program keeping abreast with the growing population and resulting increased school census.

City School Board positions are held by persons holding the positions or by the voters who select them.

Proper education of the children of Murray is in the hands of the board. The physical plant facilities of the system is in their hands. Adequate housing, heating, lighting and extra curricular facilities are in the hands of the board also.

The people of Murray will do well to study each candidate and select a position on the City School Board and do their best to select the best equipped three for the three vacancies.

Legion Commander To Speak Saturday

State Commander, Rodney Brown of the American Legion will be in Murray for the annual October membership kickoff bar-b-que which will be held on Saturday.

He will speak at 1:00 p.m. All members are urged to be present at the Legion Hall where the bar-b-que will start at 4:00 p.m. There will be plenty of free bar-b-que for everyone.

Rich Saar Valley Is Center Of Franco-German Argument

By EDWARD M. KERRY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Paris — An 11th hour dispute between France and Germany over the future of the industry-rich Saar threatened today to topple the free world's plans for German rearmament and creation of a West European union.

The Franco-German squabble over the postage-stamp sized territory on the border between the two nations suddenly ballooned into a crisis which overshadowed Allied agreements reached on all other major issues.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France emerged from a tense three hour session with his cabinet and told newsmen:

"We will not sign any accords tomorrow if the problem of the Saar is not settled. The atmosphere is not good."

But today the traditional enemies of Europe declared themselves far apart on the Saarland issue—less than 24 hours before the scheduled hour for signing the series of pacts to which Europe's defenses and United States and British policy in Europe are pinned.

So serious was the Saarland hitch that one French spokesman said:

"There are 30 items on paper after three days of negotiations with the Germans, but each side has a different version of each."

The French spokesman accused the Germans of attempting to stall a Saar agreement so that France would be blamed again for blocking Western defense.

German officials denounced several undisclosed French proposals as "entirely unacceptable." They privately accused the French of attempting to blackmail Germany by threatening to withhold German independence.

Both nations appeared in a difficult and rigid position. Adenauer, at a morning conference with members of his government coalition and leaders of the opposition Socialist Party, announced that all five major West German parties—including the Socialists—had agreed in principle on the German position.

Mendes-France said the French Cabinet is just as determined in support of his position.

The big point at issue was said to be German demand that the Saar hold new elections before a referendum is taken on any accord reached at Paris, and that pro-German political parties be given full freedom to participate.

Climactic Session
Diplomatic observers said the torrent of accusations reflected a shrewd attempt by both sides to prepare for this afternoon's climactic meeting between Mendes-France and Adenauer. Each was attempting to make its bargaining position as strong as possible, these sources suggested.

The 15 nations attending the conference had been prepared to sign a series of agreements which would:

1. Enlarge the Brussels Pact into a West European union including Germany and Italy as the keystone of Western Europe unity and defense.
2. Grant West Germany authority to arm 500,000 men to aid in Free Europe's defense against threats of Communist aggression.
3. Restore Germany's sovereignty and independence and end the Allied occupation.

Ernest Vogt Addresses Rotarians

District Governor Ernest Vogt was the guest speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Murray Rotary Club.

Mr. Vogt spoke on the meaning of Rotary and how a member of the Rotary Club must place service above self in order to enjoy the fullest from his membership.

He said that service gives is voluntary service, and much of it will go unrecognized, yet add much to the standing and prestige of the club.

He termed Rotary Clubs as "God loving and neighbor loving which the world needs so much."

He quoted Paul Harris, the founder of Rotary, when Harris on his deathbed was asked about his hope of the future of Rotary International. Harris told his questioner that his hope was that Rotarians would be ambassadors to men of all creeds, races, and colors.

Mr. Vogt urged Rotary members to observe the Rotary creed of "Service above Self."

Hiram Tucker introduced Mr. Vogt, and received a standing ovation from the members.

Edwin Cain was introduced by D. L. Divelbiss as a new Rotarian. Visiting Rotarians present were Kenneth Wells of Mayfield, Louis Brocato of Paris, Tennessee, and E. M. Cook of Lakewood, Ohio who was also a guest of Elmus Tucker.

The Rotary Club made a contribution of $45.00 toward the purchase of a television set for Mrs. Bea Purdom, who is confined to her home.

O'Dwyer To Visit
New York City
LOS ANGELES — William O'Dwyer, former U.S. ambassador to Mexico, will return to New York on Wednesday for his first visit since 1951, he said Thursday night.

O'Dwyer, a former New York mayor, said he planned to visit friends and that the only problem he anticipated was "what show to see." O'Dwyer is now a permanent resident of Mexico City, although still an American citizen.

Appearing on a local television program, O'Dwyer was asked if any charges had been made blaming him for corruption in New York during his term as mayor.

"They could not prove what did not exist," he replied. "If they want somebody to come back and clean up the city, I'll be glad to do it again."

The former mayor came here to testify at a recent congressional hearing into Communist infiltration in Latin America.

Deer Hunt Is Successful

Last Saturday brought to a close the open season on deer for Kentucky archers. In comparison with the hunt last year, this year's season was over twice as successful, in both members hunting and the deer killed. Only four deer were taken during the bow season in '53 but nine were killed during the two week hunt this year. Seven of the kills were made during the first week of the hunt, a 34 point fallow buck was taken on Tuesday of the second week and a fallow doe felled on the last day of the hunt, totaling the nine.
There was an agreement that all hunters were to take their place before dawn and remain in their stand until 9 o'clock. This agreement was to aid the men in the stand and allow everyone an equal chance at the deer by allowing no one to roam the Woodlands speaking the deer. This arbitrary agreement between hunters was repeatedly violated else there would have been several other deer taken during the hunt. The writer was surprised to learn that the man and his two boys, which spoiled his hunt the one morning that he went was a state employee.

Three Murfrees, Roy Stark, Don Vinson and the writer were nearly in stand position when a car came plowing down a road that is usually prohibited to public traffic. Including deer hunters, for a bar was across the road at the head of it and did to a noisy halt about midway of a 150 yard stretch of woods. Two boys got out, slammed the car doors and headed off into the woods yelling, clapping their hands and whistling. Of course every deer within 500 yards made for higher ground. This was at 5:30, three and one half hours before the agreed time to make drives.

In about thirty minutes the two boys came back and the writer left his blind there were no deer about anyway, the boys had seen to that and ran to the place where the boys had their car parked. When questioned as to why they were behaving so they gave evasive replies and said they were driving for their dad. The boys gave their last name only, Hudson.

Just before the boys left, Dr.
A. I. Heise, who is secretary of the Kentucky Archers Association and president-elect of the same organization, from Shelbyville, came up to the car having had his hunt ruined by the boys also.
Dr. Heise left the hunting area, saying that he believed he would return to camp headquarters because he believed there was no point remaining in that section after the escapade of the boys.
After returning to his stand, the writer again heard whistling and a dog barking. Upon investigating a man and a dog were walking noisily along the edge of the woods. The man refused to identify himself, but he owned the property he was on. (The property is a Federal Waterfowl Refuge). Later in the day we learned that this man was one of the wardens and the father of the two boys that had been in the woods earlier.

No one was able to explain why the incident occurred, but it certainly made some ten hunters in the area very angry people. One of the hunters said that he saw the warden driving the car the boys were in going up and down the Woodland access roads blowing his horn in long and short blasts. It appears that someone does not want deer hunting going on, or else does not want any hunter to get a chance at a deer.

It will pay a hunter to investigate the rules that are being upheld, for to spend time and funds for a possibility to shoot a deer and then have the possibility dissolved by a Woodland official will be a great waste.

Trips Still Enjoyable

Even though incident like the one described above do happen, the majority of those making trips into the Woodlands for deer could say that these trips were enjoyable. The Woodlands are full of wildlife such as coons, squirrels, rabbits, possums and wild turkey.

The writer saw all of these on his one trip, but no deer.

Good Waterfowl News

"Ducks and geese are moving south by the tens of thousands.
This has been one of the best breeding seasons for ducks and geese in Canada that I've ever seen" writes W. H. (Bill) Taylor, professional bird dog trainer of Cookeville, Tenn., during a trial trip into Canada. Others that have been north for the already open season on waterfowl report that "thousands of ducks are on the ponds." Dick Roberts said that the flocks are larger than usual for dry weather has concentrated the ducks on the larger water.
Hunters are bagging their limits
every day, and in a short time.

FISHING REPORTS

These reports are for two weeks.
They were omitted last week for our special feature of hunting and fishing in Calloway County.

From Bill Nail, at the Kenlake Boat dock comes good and bad news. He says that high winds have hampered results during the past week but intervals of fair fishing weather netted good results for most fishermen. Large mouth bass continue to be the number one fish in the area with stripes and crappie following a close second. Many two pound crappie are being brought in. The weather is the bad news.

Here is the good news from last week's report.
J. W. Murray of Russellville and Bert Sheatzly of Cincinnati took ident, who filed more than one million words on the President's business and pleasures in Colorado.

As the President left the Brown Palace Hotel in Denver after his birthday party last Thursday night, a group of four men, obviously feeling rather well, stood in a parking lot about 50 feet from Mr.
Eisenhower's car.

Their pockets bulged with what turned out to be golf balls. Apparently, these celebrities planned to give the President and his wife a rude sort of shower. Secret Service agents, however, moved out into the street just as the President

Kissel and Mrs. Alba Kissel, Indianapolis, have a total of 104 head of fish taken during the past week, all on minnows, as follows:
32 crappie, 53 largemouth with the top fish 6 pounds.

Across the lake, Paul Gilliam at Fisherman's One-Stop tells of Noble Hall and Red Gardner catching 11 largemouth and a walleye using surface Bombers last Monday. Thurston Layne and Ridley E. Rouse of Hartselle caught 15 stripes averaging two pounds on Brown's Rubber Shad. Paul Steen and F. B. Murphy of Bowling Green, limited crappie, caught six bass, six cat and a pike on minnows fished 15 feet deep.

WELDING FUMES ARE HARMFUL TO SOME

CHICAGO — Some welders develop respiratory disorders that force them to change jobs, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.
Dr. Robert Charr, Philadelphia,
a specialist in pulmonary diseases, described seven cases of welders who developed breathing difficulties because of the fumes connected with their work.

In three of the cases, he said, the symptoms were serious enough to necessitate a change in jobs.

The electrode used in welding gives off fumes containing minute particles of iron oxide, Charr said.
The electrode also is coated with various materials.

The fumes of fluorides and cadmium, he said, are the most irritating, the specialist said, and there is reason to believe that chromium may cause cancer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. H. C. Chiles

GUIDANCE FOR FAMILY LIVING

While instructing the children of Israel, prior to their entrance of the land of promise, Moses taught the fathers that the proper education and training of their children were of tremendous importance. He urged them to see to it that their children were instructed in the knowledge of what God required of them. He was unwilling for them to permit their children to remain in ignorance of these things. At a very early age children should be instructed in the way they should go. To train children correctly requires much knowledge, wisdom, time, patience and energy. Example, watchfulness and instruction are necessary in this all-important work. Right living in the family requires correct instruction from the parents, filial obedience from the children and conformity to the will of Christ on the part of all.

Proverbs 4:1-4
Solomon wrote of the great affection of both of his parents for him, but he mentioned only the concern of his father for his education. Doubtless David wanted him to be acquainted with whatever might serve to prepare him for his future station in life. The example of the king in taking such a remarkable personal interest in the religious instruction of Solomon should shame multitudes of parents today who either neglect this responsibility altogether or commit it entirely to others outside the family.

Careful instruction and proper discipline of children are an evidence of a true affection for them. A child untaught and undisciplined will be a living shame to any parents. Respect for and obedience to parents are exceedingly important in any life. Faithful obedience to godly parents brings credit to the children, honor to the parents and blessings to the community. Fortunate indeed is any child who is trained by Christian parents to be respectful, thoughtful, obedient and industrious. Youth is the time to learn respect for authority, regard for wise counsel, and obedience to law.

Proverbs 6:20-23

God's Word teaches that one of the primary responsibilities of parents is to instruct their children. How else could the children learn the things which they so sorely need to know to guide them in their growth, development, conduct and service? Parents should live in conformity to the teachings of God's Word, and then convey its messages and principles to their children. Whether or not they realize it, parents are constantly making a profound impression on the minds of their children by their attitudes, words and actions. What a pity that in so many cases the instruction is injurious instead of wholesome and constructive!

You will observe that both parents are mentioned in this passage. This indicates the fact that neither father nor mother has any right to refuse to accept his or her share of the great responsibility. Both parents should realize that nothing can take the place of home training. Of primary importance in the instruction of the children is the teaching of the Word of God. It is an unending guide. It will illumine the pathway of life, revealing both the dangers and the beauties of it.

Parents should be channels through which the will of God is made known to their children. For this reason they should pray earnestly that they may be prevented from sowing the wrong kind of seed in the lives of their offspring. Parents who have the misfortune to have wayward children often pour out the bitterness of their souls in prayer for them.

A poignant domestic calamity is that of a contentious wife. The writer here compares the contentions of such a woman to the continual dropping of rain through the roof of an old house. Such a dropping utterly destroys the happiness of any man. In some respects this calamity is worse than that of a foolish child. Whereas the foolish child may be cast out or influenced to leave home, the contentious wife has to be endured. In contrast with the contentious wife who causes so much unhappiness in the home is the prudent companion who brings great joy to her husband and all the household. She is a special gift from God.

Proverbs 31:10-12

These verses describe and extol the virtuous woman. This "interwoman" seems to intimate that only a small percentage of the daughters of men measure up to the ideal which is portrayed here. Of course, the glory of the "virtuous woman" extends beyond moral purity.

No earthly treasure is comparable in value to the ideal woman who is described here. She so conducts herself as to win the approval and appreciation of her husband. With such a jewel for his wife, the husband does not miss any misgivings. Neither does he look into the matters entrusted to her with suspicious eyes. She exercises such prudence and economy that he is not subjected to any temptation to leave his happy home for the purpose of enriching himself with the soldier's spoils. She will do those things which will be for his highest interest and greatest good. Everyone in his possessions is not only safe in her hands but of greater value on account of his relationship with her.

FORCE OF HART

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower hasn't forgotten the long years he spent in the Army.

In the closing passages of his speech to the Jewish Tercentenary dinner Wednesday night he had prepared a final and laudatory reference to the Biblical prophet, Isaiah, who said: "The work of righteousness shall be peace."

When the President said it, it came out: "Private Isaiah."

(An actual case based on Company File No. WD 62 KAL 23315)

Friday afternoon, and I was driving to Chicago on business. Suddenly a car shot out from a gas station and slammed into mine! What a wallop . . . it left my car a wreck! My head got a terrific whack and I spent the night under a doctor's care.

Saturday—bandaged and shaky—I looked up the local Hartford agent. He was very busy but dropped everything to help me. He even drove me out to the wreck to look for my glasses. We found them—smashed. But—even on Saturday—the Hartford man persuaded a doctor to examine my eyes at once, then induced an optician to grind new lenses!

With his help I soon had a new car and was on my way. My Hartford Automobile Insurance paid the loss on my old car and also covered my doctors' bills. This experience showed me the importance of good agency insurance service, when you really need help! That's when you find out that the cost of your policy isn't as important as what it gives you in service—the considerate all-out kind I received from that Hartford agent.

As this true story emphasizes, you can gain valuable advantages by insuring your car with this Hartford agency. Through Hartford protection you can count on quick, dependable assistance in time of trouble from our office and from nearly 10,000 other Hartford agencies backed by more than 200 claim offices from coast to coast. Let us give you full details.

Low Flying Plane Reported Crashed

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—State police said today they received a report a transport plane was down in the Schuylkill area, five miles west of here, but that a search of the area failed to uncover any signs of a plane.

The police said the crash report came from a farmer in the area who telephoned a local radio station. An investigation of the call, however, showed the farmer reported a plane flying dangerously low over his farm.

Calls from numerous other persons in the area enabled police to trace the low flying plane in a southwesterly direction toward Reading and Harrisburg. No evidence of a plane crash could be found, however.

State police throughout the area were alerted and several planes were dispatched from the Allentown-Bethlehem area to aid in tracing the plane.

Tea Shower Is Held At Lockhart Home For Faye Story

Miss Faye Story, who will be married to Mr. Charles Whitnell on Sunday, October 24, at the Sinking Springs Baptist Church, was delightfully entertained with a tea shower on Wednesday.

Mrs. Carl Lockhart and Mrs. Stark Erwin were hostesses for the pre-nuptial occasion held at the Lockhart home on the Lynn Grove Highway from four to six o'clock in the afternoon.

The honoree chose to wear for the occasion a tulle dress of pink and white with a corsage of pink roses and a corsage of red roses in a deeper shade of pink.

Mrs. Hafford Story, mother of the honoree, wore a brown dress with a corsage of yellow roses while Mrs. Harmon Whitnell, mother-in-law to be of the honoree, was attired in a black dress with a corsage of red roses.

The receiving line was composed of Miss Story, Mrs. Story, Mrs. Whitnell and Mrs. Lockhart. Mrs. Erwin invited the guests into the dining room.

The beautifully appointed tea table was covered with a brown cloth overlaid with yellow net and centered with a gorgeous arrangement of chrysanthemums in the fall colors flanked by yellow candles. Other lovely arrangements of roses and fall flowers throughout the lovely home.

Alternating at serving at the tea table were Mrs. Betty Lassiter, Miss Ann Davenport, Miss Blodivene Moore, and Mrs. Ella Tidwell. They were assisted in serving by Miss Kay Story, Miss Frankie Erwin, and Miss Mary Leslie Erwin. Miss Maxine White kept the register.

The gifts were displayed in the bedroom and were shown to the guests by Mrs. Erwin, Mrs. Stark, Dumas Stark, and Mrs. J. B. Stark.

Eighty guests signed the register during the afternoon hours.

Murdock at one-thirty o'clock.

Wednesday, October 27

Here's the 3-Way Bonus

that's sweeping Buick to record sales in October!

BUICK BONUS — Record-making allowance in October
BUICK BONUS — Higher resale value
BUICK BONUS — Tomorrow's styling today

One look at the national sales figures tells you this: Buick is outselling every other car in America — regardless of price class — except two of the "low-price three." And just to keep sales soaring — we're willing to give a whole of an allowance this month — to keep success rolling in high. So come in — get a car and a deal that are too good to miss.

Year after year, Buicks have always carried a high resale value. But the 1954 Buick has an even bigger edge in its year-ahead styling. It will still be fresh and new-looking when other '55 models come out. So the new Buick you buy today will keep you plenty of dollars ahead when you trade it in.

You can see it on every new Buick on the road — glamorous new-day styling keynoted by that broad panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later. And with this advanced styling, you get Buick's record-high V8 power, luxurious room and comfort, that famed Million Dollar Ride — and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Results: Buick is now outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three!"

The spectacular 200-hp Buick Century — America's highest-horsepower per-dollar car — and priced next to Buick's lowest.

Tea Shower Is Held
At Lockhart Home
For Faye Story

Miss Faye Story, who will be married to Mr. Charles Whitnell on Sunday, October 24, at the Sinking Springs Baptist Church, was delightfully entertained with a tea shower on Wednesday.

Mrs. Carl Lockhart and Mrs. Stark Erwin were hostesses for the pre-nuptial occasion held at the Lockhart home on the Lynn Grove Highway from four to six o'clock in the afternoon.

The honoree chose to wear for the occasion a tulle dress of pink and white with a corsage of roses in a deeper shade of pink.

Mrs. Hatford Story, mother of the honoree, wore a brown dress with a corsage of yellow roses while Mrs. Harmon Whitnell, mother-in-law to be of the honoree, wore a black dress with a corsage of red roses.

The receiving line was composed of Miss Story, Mrs. Story, Mrs. Whitnell and Mrs. Lockhart. Mrs. Erwin invited the guests into the dining room.

The beautifully appointed tea table was covered with a brown cloth overlaid with yellow net and centered with a gorgeous arrangement of chrysanthemums in the fall colors flanked by yellow candles. Other lovely arrangements of roses and fall flowers were used at vantage points throughout the lovely home.

Alternating at serving at the tea table were Miss Bettie Lassiter, Miss Ann Davenport, Miss Blodivene Moore, and Mrs. Ella Tidwell. They were assisted in serving by Miss Kay Story, Miss Frankie Erwin, and Miss Mary Leslie Erwin. Miss Maxine White kept the register.

The gifts were displayed in the bedroom and were shown to the guests by Mrs. Stark Erwin, Mrs. Dumas Stark, and Mrs. J. B. Stark.

Eighty guests signed the register during the afternoon hours.

Murdoch at one-thirty o'clock.

Wednesday, October 27

The Dexter Homemakers Club will meet with Mrs. Pete Willoughby at one o'clock.

VARSITY TO HAVE
BUGS BUNNY DAY
SATURDAY

Saturday, October 23, has been designated Bugs Bunny Day at the Varsity Theatre according to Frank Lancaster, Varsity manager. In making this announcement, he stated that this will be a special treat for the children of Murray and Calloway county, as well as all cartoon fans. This Bugs Bunny Jamboree will include most all of the favorite cartoon characters in more than sixty minutes of cartoons that have never been shown on the Varsity screen. This Bugs Bunny Jamboree will be shown along with the feature picture "Security Risk." It is an adventure of the F.B.I. as to how they combat high treason, and stars John Ireland and Dorothy Malone. This big treat comes to the Varsity screen at regular Varsity prices.

3-Way Bonus

that's sweeping Buick to record sales in October!BUICK BONUSRecord-making allowance in October

One look at the national sales figures tells you this: Buick is outselling every other car in America—regardless of price class—except two of the "low-price three." And just to keep sales soaring—we're willing to give a whole of an allowance this month—to keep success rolling in high. So come in—get a car and a deal that are too good to miss.

The spectacular 200-hp Buick Century—America's highest-horsepower per-dollar car—and priced next to Buick's lowest.

BUICK
BONUS

Higher resale value

Year after year, Buicks have always carried a high resale value. But the 1954 Buick has an even bigger edge in its year-ahead styling. It will still be fresh and new-looking when other '55 models come out. So the new Buick you buy today will keep you plenty of dollars ahead when you trade it in.

BUICK
BONUS

Tomorrow's styling today

You can see it on every new Buick on the road—glamorous new-day styling keyed by that broad panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later. And with this advanced styling, you get Buick's record-high V8 power, luxurious room and comfort, that famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Result: Buick is now outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three!"

Buick Sales are Soaring

Tears for the Bride

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
I BLID on the stool and walked to an alcove in the rear. Beyond a door labeled "Gents" was another door. I opened this second door and peered inside.
The room was small and filled with smoke. Eight men sat at a long, round, green-covered table with a green-shaded lamp hanging over it. They were playing with chips, but there was also a mound of bills in the center of the table. Earl Seitzman sat facing the door, still dressed in his nursing clothes. The huge red coat hung over the back of his chair. His lips were puffy from the snapping I'd given him and his thin, white face looked pinkish in the white light. When he saw me, he rose out of his chair and the light glinted on his rimmed glasses.
"Pardon me," I told him. "I'll be at the bar."
He stared dumbly. The other seven men in the stud game looked at me with irritated expressions. "Sorry to interrupt," I said, and went back to the bar.
I had another bourbon and soda and waited exactly five minutes by the clock back of the bar, keeping an eye on the alcove. Then I went back to the card room. Earl Seitzman's chair was empty, and his coat was gone. The seven men were on playing, elaborately ignoring me. "Where'd he go?" I asked the room at large.
A mad racing me chewed a cigar and spoke without taking his gaze from his cards. "To the wash room."
Another man said, "I'll raise it five." The chips rattled.
I backed out, slammed the door. I was certain that I hadn't seen Earl leave the card room, but I entered the wash room inside, two men were arguing in loud voices. Neither was Earl Seitzman.
Once more I entered the card room, and again the players ignored me. Across the room I spotted a door I hadn't noticed before. I said, "Thanks, boys. You mean the lady's room, or doubt?" I crossed to the door, opened it, and stepped out into a dark alley.
I stood still for a moment, a little surprised. I had assumed that the door led to another room, or to a part of the bar. A cold wind blew up the alley, and I turned up my coat collar. This was the way Seitzman had left the card room, but what was he doing here?
Once more I felt the chill loneliness and my hand closed over the gun in my pocket. I turned my back on the street end of the alley and began to walk slowly. Behind me I heard the faint sounds of cars passing on the main street, and the occasional toot of a horn. The sounds seemed curiously far away.
Ahead of me, on the opposite side of the alley, I saw a bulky object which looked like a huge trash can. In the instant that I saw it I heard a tiny sound, a sound like metal moving on bricks. Somebody, or something, was crouching behind the can and moved it slightly. I stopped, placed my back against the wall, lifted the gun from my pocket and waited.
The can didn't move again, and there was no sound, except the faraway noises in the street. I had been snuffing along an almost trackless trail, and here I stood at last in a cold and black alley with the wind raw on my face and my unknown quarry crouching twenty feet away. Or maybe it was only a cat, or a dog. And then I saw a movement, a shadow, and I knew that it wasn't any animal, that a human was nudging behind the can. I stood very still and waited, and the minutes ticked by.
Then I took a deep breath and said loudly, "All right, Earl, I see you. Come on out."
A bullet hit the bricks directly in front of my face. Dust stung my eyes, and for a moment I couldn't see, but I fired blindly. I heard footstep running rapidly up the alley and I stood up at time to see a shadowy dark figure disappear into blackness.
I wiped the dust from my eyes and walked slowly up the alley toward the street. Behind me I heard the door to the card room burst open, and I saw the reflection of light, but I kept on going. Ahead of me a small crowd had gathered at the mouth of the alley. An official voice said, "Stand back, folks, stand back."
That would be the local law, not the sheriff, but a policeman or the village marshal, and I didn't want that, not yet. On my left was a small court, and I saw the spidery shadow of a fire escape. I ducked into the court, felt for the fire escape, found it, and started climbing. Below me a voice called loudly, "Hey! What's going on back here?"
I kept climbing. The voice called again, farther away. I reached a landing, saw a door. The door was locked. I looked upward. The roof was low and slanting. I swung to the roof, crawled over stiff tar paper to the peak, started down. My fingers encountered a metal eave trough, clogged with dried leaves. Below me, in the light from the street, was another roof, maybe a shed or a garage. I lowered myself to it, reached another eave, peered over. The ground was maw-

Colossal TV Show To Be On Sunday

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD 28 — David Selznick, producer of supercolossal movies, brings to the public Sunday night his first television program which he claims was as "difficult" as his "Gone With The Wind."

While that film was a four hour production, Selznick's TV debut "Diamond Jubilee of Light" is a two hour show honoring the 75th anniversary of Thomas Edison's invention.

It's the only TV program to be presented on all four networks, to more than 350 stations. The show boasts 14 stars, from Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds to Lauren Bacall.

Producer Selznick has transferred to television other lavish touches as he used in making such movies as "Duel In The Sun." The television show features two orchestras—one recorded and the other live—to handle the complicated program.

The sets are "more permanent than the usual TV backgrounds" to give the show a solid look. One hour of the program is live and the portion that would be better filmed, we filmed.

The producer imported such top movie craftsmen as cameramen James Wong Howe, writer Ben Hecht and directors King Vidor and William Wellman to work with him.

Vetted In Secrecy
Exactly what the stars will do has been vetted in secrecy with even the script marked "top secret." Selznick and his staff will only say the program is "a tapestry made up of sequences, tied together by the theme of light." Dramatic segments were taken from the stories of John Steinbeck, Irwin Shaw, Max Shulman, and other authors.

The program has music, drama, comedy, to appeal to all groups, added the producer.

Selznick declined to reveal how much the program cost, but added he brought the show in "under the budget."

He thinks the format is "different" from any other TV program, but whether he'll continue his new approach to TV is undecided. "I'll have to wait until Monday to decide that," he laughed.

Mayor Arrested

MAYOR THOMAS FLATELY of Erie, Pa., is shown as he listened to a detective read a warrant charging him with accepting a bribe. MAKE SUCCESS OF REMODELING HOUSE

How Mr. and Mrs. David Owsley of the Stephensburg community in Hardin County remodeled an old six-room frame house into an attractive home is related by Mrs. Jacqueline S. Rogers, University of Kentucky home demonstration agent. Mrs. Owsley is the president of the Stephensburg Homemakers Club, and she and her husband did all the work of bringing the old house up to date.

laid in the bathroom, and installed linoleum in the kitchen. All woodwork was painted white.

Future plans include the installation of a furnace, completion of a utility room, addition of a concrete porch, and landscaping the yard.

Three irrigation outfits operate in Barren county, with tobacco the leading crop to receive water.
